Police launch city-wide search

Knife-wielding intruder rapes, ties city woman

By LAURIE TELFAIR

A knife-wielding assailant repeatedly raped a young woman early Saturday at her Canyon apartment before binding her hands, gagging her and leaving her, partially clad, in her car.

Police immediately launched a special investigation into the city's first rape since at least 1968 and Chief Al Stewart said routine police patrols have been altered as a result of the report.

A neighbor, awakened by the constant blaring of a car horn, found the 22-year-old woman lying in the front seat of her car only a short distance from her apartment. Her arms were tied behind her and her mouth and eyes were taped with masking tape, according to police.

The victim, alone in her apartment when startled by the intruder, was unable to give a complete description of the assailant.

She told police she was awakened about 1 a.m. by a man who was holding a knife to her throat. He told her not to scream or he would kill her, she said.

Police found an open window in the living room of her ground floor apartment.

She told officers she was raped three times before the assailant tied her and took her to her car. He then drove about a half block from her home before leaving, police said.

She was found about 5:45 a.m. Saturday after a nearby apartment resident was awakened by a blaring horn.

The neighbor told officers he left his home to investigate the loud sound and when he approached the car he noticed something moving on the front seat.

Through the window he could see the woman, bound and gagged and only partially clothed.

He said he immediately called police and returned to the car with another neighbor to attempt to dislodge the car door with a coat-hanger.

When Sgt. Warner Talley and Patrolman David Green arrived, they, too, were unable to open the door and, finally, the woman was able to unlock the car door from the inside.

Talley said the woman was hysterical. Blood was visible on the front seat, apparently from a cut on the woman's hand.

She was taken to Palo Duro Hospital for examination and treatment. Police said she suffered a cut on her hand and scratches on her neck and wrists. She told officers she had been afraid to look at the man because he told her not to. The assailant wore gloves, she said.

Partial city police records indicate the rape is the first in Canyon since at least 1968. Records for years before that are not available.

Chief Stewart said five Canyon policemen are working on the investigation of the case.

"It's been given a high priority to try and solve it," he said.

Stewart said the early morning rape seems to follow what researchers have said is a pattern for most rapists.

"Rape is very misunderstood," he said. "Most rapes are premeditated. Like in this one, he wore gloves."

Balloons, colored eggs, and Easter baskets were the order of the day Saturday for children at the First Presbyterian Church when the church's junior high class sponsored an egg hunt and party for Easter weekend.

Bond vote next month is hinted

The possibility that another school bond issue vote will be called before the end of May emerged Tuesday night as School Board members reviewed elementary school drawings and possible school sites.

"If there's any chance we could get an elementary school for 1977-1978, it would be almost imperative that we have and pass a bond issue before the school year is out," Supt. Jerry Jacobs told the board.

After a half-hour of discussion, Board President Tom Keeling told Jacobs to put the school staff into high gear for a bond issue election to be called "as soon as possible."

Several board members expressed optimism that a bond issue vote would be approved by voters if the board will reveal before the election day the site for the school and if the total bond issue figure can be kept at the $3 or $3.5 million mark.

But, visitors to the board meeting thrust another issue into the multi-issue bond proposal when they suggested the proposed new elementary school should be constructed in Canyon rather than in the north part of the district.

"If we're going to have a school in 1977-78, we've got to really turn to," Keeling said.

Keeling instructed Jacobs to complete preliminary elementary school architectural plans along the line of two plans presented Tuesday night by Architect B.R. Cantrell, to determine possible sites and prepare a recommendation, to update figures for remodeling of Canyon High School, and to begin investigating the use of pre-cast walls for construction.

Jacobs is to give a report on the activities at the May 4 board meeting.

Board members limited their discussion Tuesday night to the need for a new elementary school and remodeling and expansion at Canyon High.

Two previous bond issues, one for $6 million and one for $5.5 million, have failed. Both called for a school in addition to the elementary school which is planned.

New Board Member Mrs. Jean Irwin recommended a speedy bond issue election.

She warned that the board has made little progress since the failure of a Feb. 17 bond issue and that if progress continues at the same pace "a year from September we may still be looking at site."

Nevertheless, school board members indicated they would make decisions on location and building costs as the bond issue can follow.

Board Member Ed Wieck said he feels the type construction and site location may not be particularly relevant to voters, who he said realize the need for a new elementary school.

"If we could decide on a location, then I say let's start immediately for a bond election," he said.

Irvin Kuhlman, however, indicated they would make decisions on location and building costs as the bond issue can follow.

elicited from Richard Pruett the response that the key issue in the defeats of the recent bond elections has been an unwillingness on the part of Canyon voters to lose control of the school system.

"That's the whole issue," he said. "They don't want to lose control. They don't want growth."

Reg. would be difficult on his position that school should be built where the people are located. In other words, Tuesday night, the board was urged to hike the percentage of assessment on property from the current 40 percent level to 80 percent. The rate to be applied to that value will be open until the district budget is prepared and approved in August or September.

The board members stressed the action Tuesday night does not hike taxes yet. But, Jacobs said taxes would be hiked next year to cover an anticipated need for an additional $240,000.

The board voted to alter elementary school attendance lines (See BOND, Page 5)

Carter says religion not key issue

The son of Democratic front-runner Jimmy Carter said here Tuesday his father's religious convictions could have an impact on his candidacy but certainly wasn't calculated to be a key campaign issue.

Jack Carter, visiting the Canyon-Amarillo area while his father stumps in Pennsylvania and South Texas for primary votes, said the elder Carter has not set out to make religion a key issue in the campaign.

Carter's Southern Baptist convictions have been spotlighted recently, particularly on television news interviews and interpreters.

The younger Carter said his father isn't making a big deal of his religious convictions, but answers questions concerning his beliefs in a straight-forward manner.

"It's not a campaign gimmick," Carter said.

He said the religious beliefs of his father could have a favorable impact on the campaign for the Presidency however.

"Overall, if people believe you're religious, they believe you're moral and honest," he said. "So, overall it could help. But some people are turned off by it and some would think it's not the proper thing for politics."

The younger Carter, visiting in Canyon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Matthis, said he feels his father can be defended against those who say the former governor of Georgia is not speaking to significant issues with specifics.

"I feel like he's speaking to the issues," he said. "People who say he's not speaking to the issues are not looking at the other can-

Texas will lead in fuel, leading geologist says

Although the supply of gas and oil is dwindling, Texas will still remain one of the leading producers of energy by switching to other undeveloped resources, a leading geologist said here Tuesday.

Dr. Charles G. Groat, acting director of the Bureau of Economic Geology, said that the three most promising energy alternatives to natural gas and oil are lignite, uranium and geothermal energy.

Of the three, lignite, a form of low grade coal, is already gaining wide use in the eastern part of the state, he said.

Texas has moved from virtually zero production of lignite in 1970 to 11 million tons a year in 1975. Dr. Groat predicted that some 50 to 70 million tons will be mined in Texas by the 1980's.

A broad band of lignite runs parallel to the Gulf Coast into deep northern Texas, Dr. Groat said. The most available for recovery, some 10 billion tons, lies within 200 feet of the surface of the earth, he said.

Other vast deposits are buried to 2,000 feet but technology will have to be improved before this lignite can be recovered, he said.

Already power companies are switching to lignite, which is low in sulfur and does not present difficulties in cleansing, he said. Texas Utilities of Dallas, which supplies about a third of the electric power in the state, has made a major commitment to lignite, Dr. Groat said.

Lignite must be mined by strip recovery but reclamation of the gently rolling East Texas terrain is much less difficult than reclaiming mountainous land, he said. In the northern part of East Texas, where most of the lignite mining is taking place now, the mined areas have been replanted in coastal Bermuda for permanent pasture.

"It isn't all apple pie," he said, "but for the past five years, reclamation in that part of the state is not only feasible, but productive."

One of the disadvantages of lignite is a high water content, which makes the mineral uneconomical to ship. Thus, it must be consumed close to the area in (See FUEL, Page 5)

Final action due in fall

Board action won't hike tax yet, but will eventually hit elderly

While Canyon School Board members did not hike school district taxes Tuesday night in their vote to change assessment percentages, the action will inevitably result in higher taxes for senior citizens.

Board members voted to hike the percentage of assessment from 40 percent to 80 percent and will set the rate for taxes probably in August or September. Before the Tuesday night vote, property in the district was taxed at 40 percent of value with a rate of $1.92 per $100 valuation.

Funnels dot area; inch of rain falls

Funnel clouds dotted the north part of Randall County Monday during the first of two early week storms which left just over an inch of moisture in the county.

The rain and wind storms brought the total rainfall figure for April to something more than two inches, the first significant amounts since August.

County Agent John Brazzil said the rains will significantly improve rangelands in the county.

At least two tornadic funnels were spotted in northern parts of the county Monday afternoon.

Dr. Jim Underwood, a West Texas State University geologist, spotted a funnel cloud on the ground near Irwin Greenhouse north of Canyon on VFW Road about 3:30 p.m. Monday as he returned from Amarillo along U.S. 87.

Mrs. Conway Kuykendall, also returning to Canyon along the highway, also spotted the same tornado as it swooped down and then receded into the storm clouds.

The sheriff's office also received a report of a sighting about 10 miles southeast of Tradewinds Airport, which is in the extreme northern part of the county.

Clear skies following the mid-afternoon storm gave way to high winds and a cloudburst just before midnight Monday.

The two-hour storm left varying amounts of moisture around the county.

Canyon received an official 1.01 inches of moisture from the storm. Reports from north of the city ranged from .60 of an inch to

County wants reappraisal aid

Randall County commissioners told their tax collector Monday to determine whether Canyon and Canyon School District officials would be willing to join with the county in a general reappraisal of property.

Officials contacted by The News this week indicated they might be cool to such an idea.

Commissioners, during their regular meeting, reappraised their year-old reassessment program and heard a proposal from a Spearman man for completing the reassessment of rural properties and subdivisions.

The second look at the reassessment program was spurred a week ago by the resignation of John Carrington, who has headed the program since its inception more than a year ago. Commissioners are to meet in special session today to interview a downstate firm which has proposed to complete the reassessment program.

Troy Sloan of Spearman told commissioners Monday he would complete the reassessment of rural properties by May 1, 1977, for $25,000 and would complete the reassessment of subdivision properties by the same date for another $15,000.

Commissioners have already spent about $26,000 on the reappraisal effort and have budgeted nearly $50,000 for the office for this year.

Commissioners Jim Fletcher and John Fulgenzi suggested that it might be possible for the county to save time and money by using up-to-date City of Amarillo tax information, but (See AID, Page 5)

Exhibit looks at Texans' part in the nations' birthday party

By BOB SCHNEIDER

The celebration of our nation's 200th birthday is bringing the world's attention to the American Revolution in which the thirteen British colonies declared their independence from England. It was not until sixty-nine years later that Texas became a state of the Union. Therefore one might ask how can Texans feel personally involved in celebrating an event so far removed by time and distance?

After all, Texas was only a minor, sub-province of New Spain in 1776.

To find the answer to this question one only has to visit an exhibit which has been on display throughout the Canyon school system. The Institute of Texas Cultures has produced a major traveling show that answers the question in detail. The show is named "Texas and the American Revolution." With pictures and story pulled together by a colorful, innovative design, it explains why Texas — a minor, sub-province of New Spain in 1776 — had a stake in the American Revolution long before its annexation to the United States.

The Texas we know today evolved from the revolution of the Americas, a series of uprisings in the western hemisphere.

The exhibit starts with a look at Texas and Texans in 1776. In later years, revolution reached Texas through filibustering expeditions and Mexico's revolt against Spain. The latter part of the text examines the character of the North American Anglos and the parallels between the American Revolution and the Texas Revolution. It concludes as Texas joins the Union.

The exhibit was produced by the research and exhibits staff of the Institute, which is an educational research arm of the University of Texas at San Antonio. Almost five years of planning, research, design and fabrication was spent on the production of this show. As one views the exhibit, which consists of eight columns of silk-screened words and pictures, he can read various accounts of Texas' Bicentennial history.

While the exhibit was on display last week at the junior high several classes used it as a unit of study. Among these were Gene Murray's seventh grade Texas history classes. Each student was assigned an individual section of the exhibit to study. At the end of the unit they discussed new facts or events they had learned about Texas history and the revolution. The only criticism Murray noted was that much of the vocabulary was too difficult for seventh grade students. He felt the students had to spend much of their time looking up the meaning of many of the words.

Mrs. Hazel Sunderman, the librarian at the junior high, commented that the exhibit was very good when used to give added interest to classes and to motivate students.

The "Texas and the American Revolution" exhibit will be on display at Canyon High School next week. The public is invited to view the exhibit.

Illegal chain-letter scheme said in Canyon

U.S. Treasury and Postal Service officials warned this week that chain-letter schemes, including those which involve U.S. Savings Bonds, are illegal, after they learned of a possible chain-letter scheme in Canyon.

Leonard F. Cowden, area manager for the Dept. of the Treasury, said he had received reports of a fraudulent chain-letter scheme originating in the Canyon area.

Postmaster Lee Roy Moreland said the schemes violate federal law.

Many metropolitan areas, including areas in Texas, have apparently been centers for a revival in chain-letter operations.

"A scheme, which involves the mailing of U.S. Savings Bonds, has shown up in major urban centers of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maryland, Virginia and Florida," Moreland said.

"The letter with the Bicentennial gimmick," Moreland explained, "urges those receiving it to mail $2.00 — $1.00 for each 100 years — to the person whose name is first on the list in celebration of our nation's 200th birthday."

"Chief Postal Inspector C. Neil Benson has informed us that actual profits from chain letters are usually obtained only by those who originate or enter the scheme very early," Postmaster Moreland said.

Chain letters requesting money or other items of value are non-mailable under the Federal Mail Statute. They are from their involvement.

Typically, the chain letter requires each of its recipients to sell or mail copies to a specified number of others, who would also be asked to continue the chain of mailings. Usually, the chain expands so rapidly that the number of prospects is soon exhausted.

For example, a chain letter requiring each purchaser to send copies to six others would theoretically reach the entire literate population of the earth by the time it reached its 12th link.

The fact that chain letters are not mailed does not exclude the scheme from being a violation of law if the scheme involves the mailing of bonds or other valuable items.

On the other hand, so-called chain letters which call for nothing more than recipes, picture post cards and the like, are ordinarily considered to be mailable because the items sent do not constitute a "thing of value" under applicable law. However, postal cards involving "good luck" chain prayers that contain a threat of bad luck to those who break the chain are prohibited because it is against the law to place threatening matter on the outside of mail.

Moreland cautioned local residents to be especially alert for numerous current chain letters which contain a claim that they have been reviewed by some legal authority and officially approved for mailing.

"I have received many letters," he said, "claiming to be approved by the Post Office. I have turned over to me or Postal Inspectors so that we can help protect the public from this illegal activity."

Spellers compete at regional event

Randall County's champion spellers will be involved in the 28th annual regional spelling bee in Amarillo Saturday along with county spelling champions from 45 other counties in the area.

The regional event is sponsored jointly by West Texas State University and the Amarillo Globe-News with competition to be held at Stephen F. Austin Junior High School, 1808 Wimberly, beginning at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. The spell-down is open to the public and the winner of the competition will receive an expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. to compete in the 49th National Spelling Bee there during June 7-11.

Representing Randall County in the senior competition will be Cody Duncan, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. V.J. Duncan. He is an eighth grade student at Canyon Junior High School.

Randall County's representative for the junior county championships level will be Randy Bigelow, 11, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bigelow. He is a fifth grade student at Rex Reeves Elementary School.

The county spelling bee contestants in both junior and senior competition on March 10 were presented with bonds provided by the West Texas State Bank and Canyon News. The contestants also received ballpoint pens from County Judge Woody Pond. At the regional contest senior and junior county champions will be receiving additional prizes and the top 15 regional contestants will be presented other awards.

Junior and senior county champions from the 46 counties will be entertained with a luncheon Saturday at the Amarillo Country Club. After the contestant's luncheon, bee contestants will be provided transportation to the spelling competition site where the senior county champions will be spelling for the trip to national.

TCU scholarships for local student

Steve Baird has been selected to receive a double scholarship to attend Texas Christian University at Fort Worth following '76 graduation from Canyon High School.

Baird's scholarships include a stipend of $1,250 for band studies, received after audition, and a half tuition scholarship for his major field of church related vocations.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Baird of Canyon, Steve is a senior student at Canyon High School and has played with the CHS band for four years. During his sophomore and junior years, Baird was selected to All-State Symphony and as a senior was named to the All-State Symphonic Band.

Other prize eggs claimed during the promotion bore the telephone numbers of local residents including:

Alice Koch who received a necklace at the Carriage House Shoes;

And Ruth O'Donald, Charlene Cooper, Janelle Dillehay, Ruth Hoover, Peggy Tucker and Herman Taylor who each received a three-pound can of coffee at Gibson's Discount Center;

Unclaimed "eggs" were still in the Easter baskets at Tweedledee, Bethel Jewelers, Lane's TV & Appliance, The Bookseller, West Texas Western Store and Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio as the Easter promotion was concluded on Saturday.

which it is mined. Uranium offers another alternative to gas and oil energy, Dr. Groat said, but problems there may limit its potential.

Texas is the third largest producing state of uranium, although little is consumed here, Dr. Groat said.

"The concern is that there is not enough uranium resources to meet a strong commitment to nuclear energy," he said. "It's not that we don't have it, but that we don't know that we have it. We are basing commitments to nuclear energy on some very shaky guesses."

Dr. Groat said that should dependence on nuclear energy become substantial and the resources fall short, the nation would be faced with buying energy abroad as it does gas and oil.

However, problems within coal production and usage may make uranium an important energy source, he said.

Not all environmental questions have been answered about the use of nuclear energy, he pointed out, and Texans may find themselves involved in the problem.

"Texas and New Mexico are being looked at as potential nuclear waste disposal areas so we

Mrs. Aubrey Bruce, county tax collector, insisted the information would not be compatible with Randall County data.

Canyon city commissioner Jim Christopher, who is attending county commission meetings as a candidate for the office of commissioner, suggested the three local governmental entities discuss the possibility of a joint reappraisal.

However, school district officials contacted by The News indicated they plan only to update existing tax appraisal formulas rather than conducting a full reappraisal.

CISD-City Tax Collector Conway Kuykendall said he would like to see all three entities use the same 100 percent value for property within their jurisdictions.

Supt. of Schools Jerry Jacobs said it is the intent of the district to update tax records only for 1977-78.

He said the school and city records are in fair shape because the district had a reappraisal in 1966 and has been keeping up-to-date figures.

In other business Monday, commissioners Jim Fletcher and Dee Griffin bristled with the district with various federal programs when asked to approve a one-year agreement with the Amarillo area manpower consortium for operation of a manpower training program under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Fletcher said he is "very concerned" about such federal programs, including the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

"I'm gonna vote against it, period," Griffin said of the CETA contract. "Somebody has got to take a stand that these big programs have got to be snuffed out."

Griffin suggested the commissioners vote against the contract and then send letters to state and national legislators telling them of the commission's discontent with the federal programs.

But, commissioners finally took no action on the contract, delaying any decision until next Monday when a representative from the manpower consortium can be present to explain the program.

Commissioners also bristled at a request from the City of Amarillo that the county pay a portion of a $300,000 tab for construction of water and sewer lines and curb and gutter for the southern end of Western Street.

Fletcher urged that commissioners turn the request down flat.

But, Commissioner John Fulgenzi and Griffin suggested commissioners discuss the request with Amarillo commissioners at a joint meeting scheduled April 29 in Amarillo.

Commissioners heard an engineering report from Bill Thomas of Amarillo on a road in the proposed Canyon North subdivision.

Thomas said he has recommended to Developer A.W. Lair that the road be brought up to county construction standards by putting an inch of asphalt on the entire road except the first 300 feet, which should be torn out and rebuilt.

Thomas admitted under questioning that his recommendation is predicated on the assumption that the base material and base construction is adequate for the road.

Fulgenzi hinted that the assumption may be unfounded.

Lair, Fulgenzi and Paul Lindsey are to meet with Bill McMorries of McMorries and Associates, an Amarillo engineering firm, to go over the proposal. McMorries is author of the Randall County road construction specifications.

Commissioners accepted the resignation of Mrs. Betty Hodges, county auditor 13 years. Mrs. Hodges told commissioners she is moving from the county.

Two commissioners are to meet with Dist. Judges Bryan Poff and George Dowlen to discuss hiring another auditor.

may find ourselves in the middle of that controversy," he said.

As problems arise in the production of more conventional energy sources, the exotic forms get more attention, Dr. Groat said.

One idea that is being researched is the use of geothermal energy. One source is the hot springs west of the Pecos along the Rio Grande.

"It is thought that if the springs are hot on the surface then there is hotter water under that, that can be drilled to bring the steam to the surface," he explained. Steam from hot springs is being used in California to generate electricity.

Another idea is "a strange beast," said Dr. Groat. For years, a mixture of hot water and natural gas under tremendous pressure off the coast has caused problems in drilling off-shore for oil, he said.

"The thought is now, why not pop that to the top and use the steam to turn turbines?" he said.

It is thought that the water beneath the Gulf floor may be usable for irrigation and the natural gas in the mixture can be tapped, he said.

Projects have begun now to map the geothermal pressure resource and assess its usefulness.

More research is also underway in solar energy and Dr. Groat said that as technology advanced, Texas would likely be able to use the sun as a resource.

Energy research is proceeding at a rapid pace because, although the state is almost totally dependent on natural gas now, users are being forced by state and federal laws to go to alternatives.

Oil, like gas, is declining, he said.

"The days are gone forever where we will produce more than we use," he said.

But the alternatives have opened up exciting new areas in technology research, he pointed out.

Dr. Groat spoke at the afternoon meeting of the Panhandle Geological Society in Amarillo and then to an audience at WTSU Tuesday night. He was sponsored by the WTSU Geological Society and Sigma Gamma Epsilon.

For the month, Canyon has received 2.01 inches of rain. Brazzil said it's too early to proclaim an end to a months-long drought which has decimated the 1976 wheat crop in the county.

"You never know when one starts or ends," he said. "You just know when you're in the middle of one."

for next year. The new line will run along the Claude Highway to Washington, south on Washington to McCormick Road, then on McCormick Road east to the Canyon Expressway, north on the Expressway to Hollywood Road and then along Hollywood road east.

Children living south of the line will attend Rex Reeves Elementary School. Those living north of the line will attend Gene Howe.

W.V. McAlpin, administrative assistant, explained that with the change about 180 new students will come to Rex Reeves, thereby relieving somewhat the over-crowding at Gene Howe.

Board members figured that with the new lines, Gene Howe will have between 500 and 600 students next fall and Rex Reeves will have more than 1100.

The possibility of including construction of tennis courts in next year's budget was discussed but not acted on. Likewise, board members discussed including funds for construction of a fieldhouse for the high school athletic department.

The board reviewed schedules for implementing suggestions and recommendations from the district self-evaluation and an outside evaluation. The recommendations pertain to the two elementary schools and the junior high.

The board also reviewed proposed guidelines to be followed by the board and the Amarillo School Board when developers petition for de-annexation of property from CISD for annexation by AISD.

No action was taken on the guidelines, but Keeling suggested the wording of one guideline be altered so bonded indebtedness figures pursuant to de-annexation would not be calculated from Jan. 1 but from the date of de-annexation.

Community egg hunt among service projects by VFW

The annual community Easter Egg Hunt at Conner Park is but one of the many places of community service performed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5681 and its Auxiliary.

As in past years, the VFW Post made arrangements for hundreds of Easter eggs which were hidden in designated areas of Conner Park for a community hunt involving pre-schoolers up to 14 years of age.

Prizes were awarded to three in each division. In addition to furnishing the eggs and prizes, the VFW Post also hid the eggs and supervised the hunt, according to Cal Stephens, Post Commander.

In the 5 and under age group Easter Sunday, first place was won by Andy Halencak, 2620 13th Avenue; second place went to Shalene Hawkins, 3707 Linda Lane; and third place prize went to Chris Kuykendall, 2622 13th Avenue.

In the 6 through 10 age group, prizes included first place for Troy Lightsey, Box 163, Canyon; second place for Debra Kopynski, 1700 Creekmore Drive; and third for Sandy Leonard, Rt. 4, Canyon.

Prizes in the 11 through 14 age group were, first to Tammy Lowry, Rt. 2, Box 566, Canyon; second to P.K. Martinez, 100 N. 5th; and third to Shelly Urton, #6 Greenwood.

Other realms of community service for the VFW Post include an annual scholarship fund for the Reserve Officers Training Corps at West Texas State University and presentation of the Martin Allen Dickerson trophy to the outstanding first year member of a military science class at WT. The VFW Post also provides achievement awards to three outstanding cadets of the ROTC program annually.

The VFW is a national organization of former servicemen and annually sponsors the Gold Star Mother's Breakfast at the Post Home honoring mothers who lost sons during the war. The Auxiliary presents a corsage to the Gold Star Mothers. The Post also places flags on the graves of all veterans at Dreamland Cemetery and removes the flags at evening on Memorial Day along with participating in the annual Memorial Day Services there.

As a civic minded group, the VFW Post and Auxiliary contribute financially, along with other local civic entities, towards the support of the community's Canyon Days Celebration each summer.

Together the VFW Post and Auxiliary furnish gifts, financial aid and services for the Veteran's Administration Hospital and patients confined there during the Christmas holidays, a large portion of the funding for both organizations is obtained through weekly bingo nights sponsored at the Post Home.

The VFW Auxiliary, which is headed by Mrs. Russell (Hazel) Cumby, sponsors the traditional "Poppy sale" each Memorial Day and does other community service projects, such as a bicycle safety program, held last June.

In addition, the Auxiliary is participating in the statewide VFW Auxiliary project in keeping with State President Jacques Smith's theme "Americanism from the Cradle Up" by distributing small American flags to pre-schoolers and kindergarten children.

Local VFW members also support the National VFW Home, in Eaton Rapids, Michigan, with funds and meet monthly for business sessions under the guidance of their elected officers.

Centennial medals under preparation

The third commemorative medal of the Palo Duro Series has been cast using the artwork by local cowboy artist, Jim Ward, and will be available soon through the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

Artwork for the third commemorative medal celebrates the centennial of the Texas Panhandle: 1876-1976. The medallions will be available in prices ranging from $2.50 for the unnumbered antique bronze to $100 for a three medal set (gold, silver and bronze).

Present owners of the 1974-75 commemorative coins, serialized by number, have exclusive rights of ownership to future issues of the numbered coins and all other orders will be filled on a first come/first served basis.

The Texas Panhandle was among the first regions of America explored by Europeans. Spanish conquistadors first crossed the awesome Staked Plains over four hundred years ago. Mexican traders and buffalo hunters, American merchants looking for new markets, and explorers seeking better routes west crossed the vast treeless region frequently, but only the nomad Southern Plains Indians—Kiowa, Comanche, Cheyenne, and Arapaho—made their home here.

Hardy buffalo hunters and dedicated American soldiers spent a decade clearing the two threats to a secure American-oriented economy—the vast herds of bison and the Indian. Virtually all the Indians had moved to reservations in Oklahoma by 1875, and the bison lasted only a little while longer.

In 1876, there were several divergent groups making efforts to tame the huge expanse of plains. Fort Elliott was a new, bustling military post located in the northeast and soon a settlement, first named Hide Town by the buffalo hunter, was establishing his "Zulu Stockade" in what is now Hansford County. To the west, New Mexican settlers entered the Panhandle and established sheep, horse, and cattle raising operations at Tascosa, now the location of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch.

In the summer of 1876, Colonel Charles Goodnight, Texas Ranger, rancher and frontiersman extraordinaire brought a herd of longhorns into the Panhandle. In the fall he took the cattle into Palo Duro Canyon and established the JA Ranch in partnership with John Adair.

By the next year, five major ranches were establishing headquarters in the Panhandle. The cattle industry skyrocketed to major importance as the Panhandle's leading industry.

In a hundred years, the Panhandle has developed a complex economy based upon agribusiness, production of natural resources such as gas and oil, and manufacturing. Educational, cultural and recreational facilities make outstanding contributions to the quality of life in the Texas Panhandle.

Two dollar bills were given to those who found the most eggs. In the younger set, the winner was Shandi Harvey. Darren Johnson was named winner among the older group. Several prize eggs containing money were hidden.

Gregg Phifer dressed as a clown added to the excitement of the day by clowning around and passing out gum.

MRS. NATHAN (JOEL-LEN) HARVEY is in St. Anthony's Hospital in room 319B. Diet and medication will be required for her cure.

Mrs. Eddie (Phyllis) Bryan is home. She had surgery last week in Northwest Texas Hospital.

R.H. (Squad) remains in High Plains Hospital. His heart surgery was a few weeks ago.

Jack Foster has been transferred back to Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon. His condition is somewhat improved.

Joyce Lane continues to improve after heart surgery and plans to be back home in Wayside next week.

Bruce Fields had surgery last week in St. Anthony's Hospital.

MRS. LEWELL (JUANITA) JOHNSON, 48, died Saturday afternoon. We are unable to express the depth of our sorrow to that family.

Juanita was a vivacious and compatible person who lived each day to the fullest. She will be very keenly missed by everyone whose lives she touched. Though small in stature Juanita had a great art for living and possessed many talents.

Juanita was a member of the Methodist Church, Beta Sigma Phi and the Happy CowBelles. She was employed in the business department of Cooper's Grocery.

Funeral services were Monday in the Methodist Church of Canyon where Juanita had been a life time resident.

Survivors include her husband, Lewell; five daughters, Mrs. Don (Ann) Hawkins of Dumas, Mrs. Bobby (Debbie) Lyon of Houston, Carlotta Jo Abbott of Nashville, Tennessee, Mrs. Rick (Nicki) Edmondson of Amarillo and Mrs. Brad (DeeDee) Martin of Fort Collins, Colorado; one sister, Mrs. Joe Zack (Dorothy) Byrd of Canyon and five grandchildren.

Sunny Easter sandwiched between storms

By KAROLYN FARMER
THIS EASTER SUNDAY was kind of like the middle of an Oreo cookie — a bright, sunny day sandwiched between the dark, threatening storm clouds that always come with a Panhandle spring.

Many Palisades residents attended the Sunrise Services of Palisades Baptist Church. The congregation gathered around the outdoor fireplace in Palisades Park for the worship service and the fellowship time which followed.

Pastor of Palisades Baptist Church is Hershel Moore, and guest musician for the Easter Service was Dennis Melton.

LAKE TANGLEWOOD RESIDENTS and visitors from many other nearby areas made up the overflow crowd of worshippers who attended the Lake Tanglewood Community Church on Easter Sunday. Dr. Newton Robinson is pastor of the church and the music director is Eldion McNabb.

Denna and Robert Evans presented the special Easter music for the Sunday morning services of Lamont Drive Baptist Church. Pastor Hardy Stevens delivered the Resurrection sermon.

Following the morning services, the younger members of the congregation enjoyed an Easter egg hunt on the church grounds.

OUR SYMPATHIES ARE extended to Pearlene and Bill Gervasi, William, Jr., Terry, Jerry and Russell. Pearlene's grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Russell, died last Thursday and the funeral services were held the following Monday.

Mrs. Russell had lived with the Gervasi family for seven years before her recent move to a local nursing home.

Among their relatives who came from out of town to attend the services and stayed in the Gervasi home were Mrs. Walter Hazel of Warsaw, Mo.; Libby Sevelby of New Albany, Miss.; James Clayton and H.C. Clayton of Ft. Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brown of Pontotoc, Miss.

BELATED CONGRATULATIONS GO to several area boys who received recent athletic awards: Len Schmidt, Best Offensive Player, and Ricky Cooper, Outstanding Athlete, both students of CHS.

Steve Schmidt received the Fighting Heart Award and Terry Tension was named Most Valuable Player at the CJHS Awards Banquet.

Len and Steve are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schmidt. Terry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Tension. Ricky's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cooper.

KELLY KNIGHT, THE son of Harold and Mary Knight, celebrated his first birthday last Thursday, April 15. Besides his brothers, Jay and Jeff, Kelly's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knight, Sr., were also present for the birthday party.

Kelly, who is just beginning to walk, entertained his family by diving head-first into his birthday cake.

MRS. EVERETT (SHARON) Howard has found a new way to express her musical talents. Sharon, along with Brenda Flowers and Twanna Powell, have formed a gospel music group, using the name "Brenda and the Victory Sounds."

The trio has been working together for about six weeks. Brenda Flowers formerly appeared as a soloist and has recorded an album. Sharon accompanied Brenda for the record album entitled, "Victory in Jesus."

The trio of women gave their first testimony in song last week at the First Baptist Church of Bushland. You may contact Sharon Howard if you are interested in arranging for the trio to sing in your church or meeting.

A TOPS CLUB was recently organized by several ladies in the Mesalero Park area. Seven ladies meet each week in the home of club treasurer, Mrs. Billie Spurlin. Marie Johnson is president of the group, and Ina Aduddell is in charge of publicity.

The ladies have just completed their first six-weeks weight loss contest, and Ina came out on top (which made her the TOPS, of course).

Ina also says that all area ladies are invited to join the group which meets each Wednesday at 9:00 a.m. in the Spurlin's home, 101 Mesalero.

The local TOPS Club is planning to hold a fund-raising garage sale in a few weeks, and are busy making craft items for the sale.

JUDY AND MIKE Mebane are staying with Judy's parents, Bob and Ina Aduddell, while Mike is on emergency leave from the service. The Mebanes now live in Keyport, Wash. They returned to Texas to see Mike's father, who is in a local nursing home.

The Aduddell family made a trip earlier this year to Washington for a visit with Judy and Mike. On the return trip, they also enjoyed visiting the California beaches, Sequoyah National Park and Grand Canyon, and many other attractions in between.

Ina, Bob and the children, Gene, Will, Jane and Kirk, took another family trip during last month's Spring Break. The Aduddells drove to Carlsbad, N.M. for a tour of the caverns.

NELL AND JAIRREL Moore, Greg and Doug enjoyed a visit with several relatives over the Easter weekend.

Nell's mother, Mrs. Oma Charles, Jairel's mother, Mrs. Nora Moore, and his nephew, Chris Moore, all of McLean, spent the holidays with the Moore family.

GLEN AND JUNE Vanlandingham and Lynn were joined by Glen's three sisters and their families for a weekend of holiday fun. Visiting with the Vanlandingham family from Arlington were Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, Tammy, Coy and Brandy. Glen's nephew, Brent Callan, of Levelland, was also included in the family group.

Bobby and Darla Ratliff, Bridgette and Toby, along with Teresa and Tommy Canon of Amarillo, joined the Vanlandingham family in a fishing trip to Greenbelt Lake on Sunday.

Although no one caught any fish, according to June, they all had a very enjoyable outing.

Glen's sister, Darla, and her family are new residents of the Gene Howe area. The Ratliffs bought their new home in Estacado Estates about a month ago, moving from Arlington.

Bobby works as a wholesaler for AAA Greenhouse, where Darla also works part-time. Bridgette is six years old and is in the first grade at Gene Howe. Toby is three years old. The Ratliffs are originally from Bowie.

PRESTON AND JOANN Hollis, Delbert and Dwayne, drove to Big Spring to spend the Easter Holidays with relatives. While there they visited with Delbert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hollis, and Joann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Phillips.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 237, led by Sharon Camouse, and Troop 113, led by Margaret Davis, have completed their series of bowling lessons at the Western Bowl.

Sharon says all the girls were really enthusiastic about the lessons, and are looking forward to taking them again next year.

The third grade girls of Troop 237 are also looking forward to their "Flying Up" ceremonies, to be conducted by the fifth graders of Troop 113 at the Canyon Scout House in May, will include the first overnight camping experience for the younger Scouts.

A weekend camp-out at Camp Kiwanis is also on next month's agenda for the local Girl Scouts.

PAM AND CONNY Martin, Pike and Paige, took advantage of Conny's vacation from school to spend a few days at their lake cabin.

Conny is assistant principal at Amarillo High School, which closed last week for Easter.

The Martins got in lots of fishing at their Marble Falls cabin, but had to "rough it" more than usual after the plumbing lines broke.

DONALD DAVEE WAS home last week for a visit with his family, Mary and Bob Davee, David and Doreen. Don, who is in his fourth year in the Army, is currently stationed at Ft. Riley, Kan.

MRS. LEONARD (GLENNA) Schmidt, Carla and Russell, along with Glenna's sister, Mrs. Robbie Caulfield of Phalia, drove to Hubbard over the weekend for a visit with Glenna's father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Scott. Mrs. Scott is seriously ill, and is hospitalized in Hubbard.

JEFF CATES, THE son of Roy and Sherrie Cates, is recuperating at home following a serious automobile accident last week. Jeff was a passenger in the car driven by Marty Widick, who was killed in the wreck.

Our deepest sympathies go to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Widick, and the family, who are former residents of the Gene Howe area now living in Canyon.

The Cates family is extremely grateful that Jeff was spared from really serious injury. He spent one day in Highland General Hospital in Pampa before coming home.

Sherrie also said that Kenny Roberts, another passenger in the car, is still in Northwest Texas Hospital, Room 245, and has undergone surgeries for a punctured lung and severe leg injuries.

The fourth passenger, Ron Brannum, of Canyon, required 22 stitches in his hand following the tragic wreck.

Another son of Sherrie and Roy Cates, Ronnie, was home from Baylor last week for his spring break.

THE GENE HOWE sixth graders all toured Nichols Station and enjoyed a picnic at Thompson Park last week. The annual fieldtrip was held Thursday, and fortunately was over just before the big storm hit.

Owners protest

Compromise reduces trash rate for apartments

A compromise between the city commission and apartment house owners Monday night reduced the present trash collection rates for multi-family units but placed the fee higher than commercial service.

The commission voted on $2 a unit for apartment house trash collection and agreed to a request to study the cost for pickup at the commercial rate for large complexes.

About a dozen apartment owners, represented by Canyon attorney Jim Brown, attended the commission meeting to ask for a reduction in the sanitation rate.

Apartments, which have large capacity containers, are serviced on the commercial system and, until city utilities rates were adjusted revised and raised in February, apartments were charged the commercial rate of 20 cents a cubic yard for trash pickup.

Under the new rates, which were billed for the first time in April, each unit is charged the residential rate of $4.25 for pickup.

The $2 rate will be made retroactive to the April billing.

Brown had originally asked that the commissioners base an apartment pickup rate on cubic yards system. Commissioners pointed out that for small units, the $2 rate was less expensive. Larger complexes, they agreed, would benefit by paying by the yard for pickup.

Using Canyon Creek Apartments as an example, Brown pointed out that the previous monthly bill for sanitation had been about $36. Under the per unit rate of $4.25, sanitation charged rose to $425 a month and would be $200 under the $2 flat rate.

Commissioner Jim Christopher countered that owners of a six or ten unit complex would pay less with the $2 charge than they would with a cubic yard charge. The meeting, which lasted more than two hours, drew an unusually large crowd.

Nearly a dozen residents were on hand for the public hearing on rezoning a lot on the corner of 18th Street and 5th Avenue from

Boss night fete for secretaries

Tierra Blanca chapter of the National Secretaries Association is observing National Secretary's Week in conjunction with the national observance this week.

The local chapter includes members from Canyon, Hereford and adjacent areas and this evening the members of the chapter will be holding their annual Boss Night Banquet at Hereford Country Club. Members will be honoring the "boss of the year" and the "secretary of the year award" will be presented.

On Sunday, the local membership of the Tierra Blanca chapter will be attending worship services of the First Baptist Church as a group. That afternoon, the local membership will entertain other members during a tour of the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum beginning at 2 p.m. and will conclude the week with a fete at Judy's Restaurant in Canyon that evening.

The local membership sponsored a Secretary's Day luncheon at the Yum Yum Tree Restaurant in Canyon on Wednesday with members from Hereford and area as guests.

two-family to retail.

Keith Bright, president of Sunlight Investments, told the commission that he planned a "2,000 square foot office building for the lot if the zoning is changed."

The lot, which is adjacent to other retail-zoned lots on the west, is in the path of Canyon's growth, Bright told the commission.

"It is only a matter of time before this zoning will need to be done, regardless of the outcome of this hearing," he said. Several residents in the neighborhood objected to the zone change and the commission voted to uphold the planning and zoning denial of the change.

Two other zoning requests were approved: a lot on 5th Ave. and 11th Street owned by C.N. Cosby was changed from two-family to multi-family and the plat for unit 2 of Hunsley Hills.

A high bid of $9,100 for the old city hall building was accepted by the commission, but identical bids of $4,000 were received for the old library lot and building. The commission asked city manager Glen Metcalf to confer with bidders Mike Morris and Wade Phillips and Larry Wall

EASTER SUNRISE SERVICES were held in the Pioneer Amphitheatre of Palo Duro Canyon Sunday morning with a crowd of about 300 early-risers on hand for the worship service.

Rev. Jim Hancock, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Canyon, was the speaker for the special service and a majority of other pastors were involved in the annual services sponsored by the Canyon Ministerial Alliance. Rev. Terry White, pastor of the First Christian Church, was arrangements chairman for the annual event.

A FAMILY REUNION was the highlight of Easter weekend for local residents, Mrs. Marguerite Strain and Mr. and Mrs. R.A. Burrus.

About 30 members of the family gathered Saturday at the Burrus home northwest of Canyon for a day of reminiscing.

On hand, in addition to Mrs. Strain and Mr. and Mrs. Burrus, were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bourn and their son, Doyle; Terry Bourn and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bourn; Mrs. Linda Bourn and her sons, Edward, Carl Wade and Lynn; Mrs. Mertz LaFollett of Carthage; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hill and Kelley of Abernathy; Katy Gorman of Houston; Sherry Brewster of Carthage; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Swearingen and Scott and Shelly Swearingen of Happy; Sue Lambert and Patricia Lambert; Mrs. Dena Lambert and her sons, Daniel and Kyle.

THE "BACK TO SCHOOL" bells rang early Tuesday morning for those Canyon Public Schools students who had sort of gotten used to sleeping late.

Public school students will have their final day of classes on May 28 to wrap up the 1975-76 school year, although teachers have an in-service day on May 29 to complete their records and other business.

West Texas State University students returned to their spring studies Tuesday morning too. Finals for university students will be held May 10-13 and then, those who aren't taking summer courses, will be busy at other warm weather projects.

A TEXAS LIBERTY Pecan tree which has been planted in a viewing island of Palo Duro Hospital's northwest section was dedicated during rites for the new outdoor visitation plaza at the hospital this week.

The pecan tree had been presented to Randall County by the Texas Forest Service as a bicentennial project before planting time.

CARMEN HERNANDEZ is reportedly improving well following the automobile accident before proceeding.

The low bid of $71,498.70 from C&M Paving was accepted for city streets. Other bids were Jake Diel, $72,000.80; Milligan, $84,560.27 and High Plains, $85,495.90.

In other business, the board agreed to take over maintenance of the two baseball diamonds, approved a request for a $12,023.10 reimbursement to the school district for street paving and okayed city participation for next year in the Metro Unit.

Commissioners heard a short presentation from Roger Case, field representative of Texas Public Employees Association. Case told the board that several city employees were considering TPEA membership.

The organization, formed in 1948 to lobby for benefits for state employees, was not working on studies to assist local governments in comparing employee benefits of similar cities and employment.

"We do not intend to be an inflationary element in your budget," Case said.

The commission asked no questions and had little comment on the TPEA presentation.

CHS ready for regional

The Canyon High girls 880 relay team turned in their best time so far this year as the CHS regional qualifiers worked out Saturday at a practice meet at Welch.

They will compete Saturday at 1 p.m. in the regional meet at Odessa.

880 runners Teri Tucker, Louise Davis, Deedy Johnson and Robena Johnson turned in a 4:52 time to win the event. Deedy Johnson was pulled from the 60-yard dash to run in place of team regular Terry Morrison, who was sidelined with an infected foot.

Both the 440 relay team of Tucker, Davis, Deedy Johnson and Merry Johnson and the mile relay team with Tucker, Davis, Robena and Merry Johnson won. The CHS girls ran the 440 in 49.8 seconds and turned in a 4:16.2 time on the mile relay.

Robena Johnson won the 220-dash in 26.2 seconds, running in strong winds that added to her time. Buffalo Riding Club, Randall County Sheriff's Posse and the Palo Duro Riding Club were involved in the Range 2 Riders monthly meeting Tuesday, April 13, at the Bank of the Southwest in Amarillo.

Three other riding clubs compose the area group and a short business meeting was held. The groups were reminded of the bicentennial festivities to be held in Amarillo soon and an invitation was extended to the open play day events to be held May 23 at the Valley de Oro arena.

Randall County Sheriff's Posse will host the next Range 2 Riders session on May 11 at the arena, southwest of Canyon.

Book sale Saturday

A good variety of used books and other reading materials will be offered for sale Saturday at the old library building in the 500 block of 16th Street beginning at 9 a.m.

The sale is being sponsored by Canyon "Friends" of the Library and prices will be set at a nominal fee. Books on science, fiction, autobiographies and others are included in the sale until 5 p.m.

The public is encouraged to participate in the project as funds raised will be used by the "Friends" for future projects benefiting the Canyon Public Library.

Historic painters discussed for arts club meet

"Painters and Patriots" was the theme for a slide history of art in the United States presented by Charlotte Brantley, CHS art instructor, for about 15 members of the Canyon Fine Arts Club Monday evening.

Mrs. Brantley narrated the slide program and discussed the early art of the US during the presidencies of the first seven

United States presidents.

The meeting was held at the home of Donna Wilson with Mary Jane King as co-hostess. A musical program featuring a dozen fifth and sixth grade girls from Rex Reeves Elementary School was presented under the direction of Donna Wilson, elementary music teacher.

Margaret Harper, club president, was in charge of a brief business meeting as officer nominations were made for the coming year and a report was given on the progress of the club's historic wall hanging. The wall hanging is being prepared for presentation to the Canyon Public Library as a bicentennial project of the club.

Off to storm shelter

By DORIS McKEE
HASN'T THE RAIN been lovely? It makes things look so green and fresh and what a nice smell it gives the air.
Now, those tornadoes dancing all around are another story entirely. Guess we may as well get Had a party? Or giving one? Tell The Canyon News about it. Telephone 655-7121, or stop by the News office on the south side of the square.

ourselves ready for the bad weather, too.

I have a feeling, I just may find my way to my storm shelter several times before this storm season gets over.

Sure hope each and every family has discussed safety procedures to take when the weather gets bad.

dures to take when the weather gets bad.

CALLED MARY LOPEZ to see how things were around their place.

I really called to see how Amber was doing and learned she was really growing and changing. She now weighs 11 lbs. and 3/4 oz. Mary said she and Rick are really having a great time spoiling her.

WANT TO WISH Christy Grumke a very happy birthday. She will be three years old on Sunday, April 25. She is the daughter of James and Linda Grumke.

ALBERT, KATIE, KATHIE and Davia Rinne went to Slaton over the weekend. They visited with relatives.

evening late for Kansas and drove to Kiowa where they spent the night with Jon's folks. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hoffman. Friday morning they drove over to Hazleton where they picked up Diane's grandmother, Faye Diehl and spent the day with her. They drove over to Wichita where they met Diane's mom and dad, Loisee and Carlos Cantrell (who live in Elsmore, Kan.). They were together for several hours visiting and taking care of some business.

Friday night Jon and Diane returned to Kiowa.

Saturday morning they drove back into Hazleton where they visited a while with Jim (Jon's brother) and Pat Hoffman. They returned to Siesta Saturday evening late.

ERINIE, DOROTHY, ROGER and Greg Robertson went to Higgins, Tex., for the weekend and visited with Erinie's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Robertson.

GUESS WE ARE losing some tenants to the city of Canyon. James and Sharon Jones and family have bought a house in Hunsley Hills and have been moving this past week. We wish them the best.

CALLED LINDA GRUMKE and learned that hubby, James, broke his left arm last week. Hope it gets along okay and is soon mended.

Asked Linda what they did for Easter and learned that her brother and sister-in-law, Ron and Marshal Morris, of Dumas, were here. They enjoyed a barbecue cookout.

THE SIESTA DING-DONG lady, Pat Reed, is having to give up this job, due to a health problem.

The new Avon lady for this area will be Lenora Cunningham, who lives in Rockwell Acres. She hopes you will give her a call if you need something before she makes it around. Her phone number is 622-3245.

WANT TO EXTEND speedy recovery wishes to Loretta Berry, who had an encounter with a shoplifter on her job. Seems her accident required some stitches.

PAT AND TEX Reed made a business trip to South Texas last Thursday through Sunday. It wasn't entirely business and from all I heard it seems there was lots of fun and laughter.

Pearl and Dale West made the trip with them. They spent Thursday night in Madisonville and were able to take care of the business on Friday.

They spent Friday night with Tex's brother, Edward Reed, in BeDias, Tex. Seems Edward lives on a farm, without some modern conveniences. Before they left BeDias they visited Tex's Aunt While in that area they went through Merkel, Tex., the small town where Dale grew up. Pat said they really had a very enjoyable and lovely time.

TALKED TO CHERI Earles and learned that she, Justin, and Wesley, went to Lefors Friday. Billy joined them there Saturday. They visited both their folks, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tarbet and Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Earles.

Saturday they went on to McLean where they visited Cheri's grandmother, Mrs. Brent Chapman and Cheri's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Chapman of Iowa Park, were there for a visit also.

Carolyn took her to the emergency room where it took several stitches to put it back intact.

Sunday, Carolyn, Larry, Cecelia, Mickey, and Carrie went to Amherst, Tex., where they visited friends, Bobby and Meda Kittrell, for the day. The Kittrells have a new baby that the Bays saw for the first time.

Garden Scene
By RICK WILCOX

With a sunny window and a few simple supplies, you can start many of your vegetables indoors and get a jump on the season. Squash, chard, okra, and several other crops of which you will need only a relatively few plants each are especially well adapted to starting indoors. I don't, however, recommend bothering with tomatoes or peppers unless you have some exotic variety not available locally as transplants. Otherwise let your neighborhood nursery do the work.

If you have pressed peat pots or vermiculite starting cubes (known as Ferti-Cubes), use them. If not, many containers can be used as "flats" for starting seeds. The principal requirements are ample size, drainage and water resistance. The bottoms of milk cartons and foam or paper egg cartons are convenient sources.

Fill with potting soil, cerniculite or a vermiculite-peat moss mix. If you use soil from your garden, sterilize it first by baking in an oven for about 15 minutes at 250 degrees to kill soil fungi which can attack tender seedlings. Vermiculite is heat expanded mica and is supposedly sterile when you buy it. Soak your planting mix and allow to drain. Then plant your seeds to a depth about 3 times their diameter and firm the soil over them. Keep moist until they germinate. (Covering with newspaper or plastic wrap helps.) Then move the new seedlings to a sunny window or under fluorescent grow lights. Water when the soil surface dries, but don't let them stand deeply in water.

About one week before setting your seedlings outside in the garden, begin to "harden them off" by gradually exposing them to longer and longer periods of outdoor wind and sun on a daily basis. Bring them in immediately if they start to wilt. When the plants seem accustomed to the great outdoors, transplant carefully taking as much soil with the roots as possible. This is especially important with squashes, which are really much better started in peat pots and planted pot and all.

If possible, transplant on a cloudy or cool day with little wind to reduce transplanting shock. Protect several days with a bottomless milk carton, a shingle stuck in the dirt on the southwest side of the plant, or some similar device. With a little care, your transplants should thrive and give you a month's leg up on harvest time.

CHS wins district openers in doubleheader at Levelland

Canyon High won the opening games of district play Tuesday in a doubleheader that was moved to Levelland because of a soggy field here.

Ron Hickman pitched a one-hitter in the second game to lead CHS to a 5-0 win, while he struck out 12 Levelland batters and walked two.

He was working on a no-hit game until the seventh inning, when, with one out, a Levelland batter rapped a single.

The game was a scoreless duel until the sixth inning, when Canyon broke loose with a hitting spree.

Matt Madewell led off with a single, followed by a single by Jay Huey and a double by Luquette, which drove in Madewell for the first run.

Huey stole home and Luquette scored on a deep fly by Greg Taylor.

Hickman got on base on a walk and was scored.

Randy Langen drove in Hickman ahead of him with a home-run for Canyon's final score.

In the opening game, Canyon won 4-2 with Terry Mick pitching.

Levelland led off with two runs in the first inning on two singles and a double but CHS fought back with a homerun by Taylor in the second inning.

In the fourth, Canyon added two more runs as Jay Huey singled and Joe Luquette got on base on a fielding error. Huey scored on Taylor's sacrifice and Luquette was driven in by Hickman.

Taylor scored the final CHS run in the sixth inning, coming home on a squeeze play set up by Randy Langen.

Canyon will make up a rained out doubleheader here Tuesday against Dumas. The first game begins at 3 p.m.

Auto racers go Saturday

Canyon stock car racers are putting the finishing touches on new cars for the opening of the racing season Saturday night at Southwest Speedway.

Veteran racers SSG Howard Blevins, Neil DeBord and Robert Mitchell have all built new autos for competition this year.

Blevins will be driving a 1970 Mustang in the late model stock car classification while DeBord will run a '72 Camaro in the same category.

Mitchell, who doesn't drive his own car, will enter a '68 Chevelle in the modified stock class. Nicky Brown is expected to drive.

Blevins, who is a member of the ROTC department at WTSU, will be sponsored by the U.S. Army, with a 'Go Army' slogan on his bright blue car. The car is owned by Bell Electric.

The opening 18-race program will begin at 8 p.m.

Keeping young at West Texas State is Tom Pickens, an enthusiastic 78-year-old student.

Sweetheart to be picked

Seven West Texas State University co-eds are competing for the title of ROTC Sweetheart. The contestants will be judged by a panel of five men and women and the winner will be presented at the Military Ball April 24 at the Ramada-Camelot Inn.

The WTSU co-eds are Muriel

Sponsored by the local Scabbard and Blade company, the banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. and musical entertainment, provided by Easy, will begin at 8 p.m.

Special guests at the affair will be Dr. and Mrs. Irby Carruth and Mrs. Darrell Cobb, the 1975 Military Ball Queen. Carruth is a member of the WTSU board of regents.

Holland son born in city

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Holland of 4112 S. Monroe, Amarillo announce the April 10 birth of a son, Thomas Othell, at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon.

The baby boy weighed 7 pounds 1/4 ounce and measured 19 1/2 inches at birth. The couple has three other children, Sibyl Hines, Diane Holland and Marie Holland.

Grandparents are Mrs. Vera S. Long and Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Holland, all of Amarillo.

Being back to school

Keeps 78-year-old young

For 78-year-old Tom Pickens of Amarillo, attending classes at West Texas State University is a way to keep young.

"I'm trying to postpone senility," Pickens says. "I get pleasure out of being with young people."

Pickens has been averaging two classes a semester over the last two years. He began taking only history classes, but soon branched out into philosophy, sociology and Spanish.

Pickens says he has no problem with being the oldest student in the classroom.

"The students have accepted me," he says, "and a lot of them speak to me when they see me in the halls. Some kids say things to me they wouldn't say to anyone else."

This is not to say that some students weren't suspicious at first.

Pickens remembers a young lady who was amazed to find out that he was not a professor or an FBI agent, but a student.

Pickens, as a rule, does not participate in class discussions unless he is asked. Students and professors are amazed when he does, however, as he remembers such things as the date of the Spanish-American War as the year of his birth.

When Pickens is not in class, the semi-retired independent oil and land man fishes and hunts throughout Canada, the US and Mexico. But when the class bells there.

"I believe going to school will extend your life because you are around people who are younger than you, and you know what's going on," Pickens says.

"You don't learn anything usually from older people, at least not too much," Pickens observes. "I like to learn from younger people; I get a great deal of pleasure from getting their idea of things. It's awful easy to drop out of things when you are old."

Pickens who earned his law degree from Cumberland University in Tennessee in 1921, resides at 3009 Brentwood in Amarillo.

Blood donated

About 40 members of the West Texas State University Kappa Alpha Order donated blood last week to the Children's Burn Hospital in Galveston.

Les Moulton of the Amarillo Khiva Temple said the KAs donate blood on a semi-annual basis and have participated in the program for two years.

A mobile unit from the Coffee Memorial Blood Bank in Amarillo set up at the KA lodge in Canyon for the donation session.

Wrecks investigated

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 13 accidents on rural highways in Randall County during the month of March, 1976, according to Sergeant J.O. Lancaster, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed and eight persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first three months of 1976 shows a total of 40 accidents resulting in no persons killed and 24 persons injured.
